About the Course

Tourism helps the visitors to get acquainted with the culture, customs and conventions, language and the mode of living of the local people. Tourism thus liberalizes their mind and helps the people to strengthen the bonds of friendship, International understanding and co-operation. The economic importance of tourism in India can by no means be underestimated. It benefits the people living in and around tourist centres financially. Fortunately for India, the Ministry of Tourism of the Central Government and the departments of Tourism of the different state Government are jointly trying to make all possible attempts to attract tourists to this country. In present situation, this is a crucial period of human beings. After this pandemic period when a new sun arises people would wakeup once again and they would be travelling to tourist spots for releasing their tension and enjoyment etc. tourism is necessary for economic growth, employment. infrastructure development, social and cultural exchange, environmental benefits, and educational significance etc. So, this course "Historical Tourism and Tourism Guiding" is very needful for this goal.
