27th June, 2020

The Context

India is one of the largest democratic countries in the world. It is also a founding member of World Trade Organisation in 1995. The Intellectual Property right is very relevant subject in the present time due to agreement on Trade related aspects of Intellectual property Rights (TRIPS) in 1995. However, due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the whole world is under threat due to the economic crisis and legal effect of IPR. This pandemic is not only affecting economic aspects, but also the behavioral realm is passing through a tough time. Behavioral Economics, which has drawn the attention of researchers worldwide, is the study of psychology, which relates to the economic decision-making processes of individuals and institutions. With this background, the purpose of the present webinar is to study and discuss the impact of COVID-19 on various issues relating to TRIPS and Behavioral Economics. There are numerous legislation relating to health, automobile, information technology, labour and various other businesses.
