

Editorial

DEEKSHA - A Journal of Education: A New Dawn in the Academic Educational Discourse

With immense pride and optimism, we unveil the inaugural issue of DEEKSHA - A Journal of Education. The birth of this journal reflects a collective vision of the Department of Education, School of Educational Studies, Doctor Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar (MP) to cultivate meaningful conversations, explore pioneering research, and bridge the gap between theory and practice in the arena of education. Education, the cornerstone of progress, has evolved dynamically, demanding constant introspection, innovation, and adaptation. The journal aims to be a beacon of scholarly excellence, offering a platform for educators, researchers, policymakers, academicians and thinkers to share insights, interrogate challenges, and propose transformative solutions. Our first issue embodies a rich tapestry of ideas ranging from pedagogical advancements, inclusive education strategies, digital learning innovations, and the philosophical underpinnings of knowledge dissemination. Each article reflects the commitment of contributors to enhancing the educational landscape, making learning accessible, effective, and inspiring. As we embark on this intellectual journey, we invite our readers to engage actively question, critique, and build upon the discourse presented within these pages. The spirit of DEEKSHA - A Journal of Education is not merely to inform but to ignite dialogue that leads to action, ensuring education remains a dynamic, evolving force in shaping society. With this inaugural edition, we pledge to uphold the highest standards of academic rigor and thought leadership. May the journal serve as a catalyst for educational enlightenment and innovation, driving us toward a future where learning is not just a process but a celebration of knowledge.

The future goals for the journal should align with its vision of fostering educational discourse, promoting research excellence, and driving meaningful innovations in learning. Here are some potential objectives that could shape its growth and impact:

- Expanding Research Frontiers - Encouraging cutting-edge studies in emerging fields such as artificial intelligence in education, adaptive learning techniques, and sustainability in pedagogy.
- Interdisciplinary Collaboration - Bridging gaps between education and other disciplines like psychology, technology, social sciences, and policy-making to offer holistic perspectives.
- Inclusivity & Accessibility - Championing diverse voices, inclusive education models, and strategies to ensure knowledge reaches underrepresented communities.
- Global Academic Engagement - Establishing partnerships with international scholars and institutions to broaden the scope and richness of discourse.
- Policy Influence & Advocacy - Providing well-researched recommendations that can shape educational policies, curriculum reforms, and teacher training methodologies.
- Digital Transformation - Strengthening online presence, exploring interactive journals, and leveraging AI-driven tools for enhanced reader engagement.
- Student & Educator Involvement - Creating platforms for students and educators to share insights, experiences, and innovations, fostering a dynamic exchange of ideas.
- Annual Symposium & Conferences - Organizing scholarly events to facilitate knowledge-sharing and networking among researchers, educators, and policymakers.

If DEEKSHA - A Journal of Education embraces these aspirations, it can evolve into a distinguished hub of intellectual inquiry, shaping the future of education meaningfully. What aspects do you envision as essential for its growth?

Welcome to DEEKSHA - A Journal of Education. Let the journey begin.

Editor

(Dharmendra Kumar Sarraf)